THE GRENADA SENTINEL.

VOLUME LXX. GRENADA, MISSISSIPPI, FRIDAY, JANUARY 26, 1923 NUMBER 36

CIRCUIT COURT IN SESSION ONLY FOUR DAYS

Much Business Transacted in a Short Time. Judge Lamb Makes Impressive Charge to Grand Jury. Only a Few Important Cases. Several Exceedingly Petty Civil Cases. Grand Jury Makes Final Report in Which Some Excellent Recommendations Are Made.

The winter term of the circuit court of Grenada County met at the court house in Grenada Monday morning with Judge T. L. Lamb of Eupora presiding. Owing to the fact that district attorney, David E. Crawley, is only out of bed a few days from a case of pneumonia and pleurisy, he was unable to be present, however, he sent a splendid substitute in his brother, Jim Crawley.

Court stenographer, W. B. Wilkes, was on duty, and has become to be a rather familiar figure around the court room in Grenada County.

The court room was very nearly filled when court was opened. The day was a rainy one, and the rain was cold. It was really the most winter-like day of the season. It began raining Monday morning. It is not an unusual thing to have bad weather during the sitting of circuit court, however, the weather has been so smooth and even throughout the winter that it would seem that no one should utter a word of complaint.

The following grand jurors were named: J. C. Wilson, foreman, A. N. Mann, W Lamon, D E Horton, A J Thomason, J D Corder, C L Trussell, J W Prichard, A L Rounsaville, W H Smith, S L Bosworth, W M Fenner, D A Williams, W E Brunson, J N Ward, J A Gibson, W P Blakely, L M Geeslin, W G Clark, E Davis.

The following are the petit jurors: Jury No. 1—W E Weir, H C Childs, Earl Brown, S H Allison, J M Minyard, G L Tollerson, Howard Jones, E G McCormick, T M Mitchell, T J Cunningham, J L Avant, F L Rook. Jury No. 2—C J Shepard, P P Critz, W H Crowder, E D Parker, W E Obryant, J L Carver, L L Frazier, W L Hamby, T P Bennett, W B Rook, T A Billups and T H Jackson.

After the juries were empaneled, Judge Lamb consumed something over an hour in his charge to the grand jury, the greater part of which consisted more of an appeal for the proper discharge of the duties of citizenship and of a realization of what law-breaking leads to. The major crimes were reviewed. Judge Lamb insisted that it was the duty of those who love their homes, their families and their God to do what is in their power to make the majesty of the law supreme. He left no doubt in the minds of the grand jury of what he thinks of the man who will deliberately or unnecessarily take the life of his fellow-man. He dwelt at length on the destroyer of the home and the horribleness of what it meant to a family to have its sacred relations disturbed by some lecherous person. He urged that if there were any such in Grenada County, that they be brought to the bar of justice. He discussed the duties of boards of supervisors and reminded the grand jurors that supervisors had such extensive powers that it was more than ever incumbent upon the part of the people to see that the law was tracked in making contracts and in expending public money. He stated that where supervisors or municipal officers traded with each other on contracts to be paid out of bublic money that they violated the law. The Judge sought to bring the importance of watching all these carefully not only to the attention of the grand jury but all officers because, as he said, tax assessments were growing higher and higher every year and so also were tax levies in almost all counties. He touched upon what the bonded indebtedness of the counties and the State aggregated, ninety-three million dollars, and said that if some leaks were not stopped or if there was not a let up some where along the line, that financial ruin and in the end bankruptcy would be the result.

The still runner was mercilessly scored. The evils and the degradation of making whiskey in violation of law were forcefully and graphically portrayed by the Judge and he pleaded with the grand jury to leave no stone unturned to indict any who may not already have been apprehended.

The Judge stated that the criminal dockets of the court in every county in his district was so much lighter than they were a few years ago, and he accounted for this because the sale of whiskey had been outlawed. He said that he found but 12 cases on the criminal docket of this County, whereas some eight or ten years ago, there were from twenty to one hundred. He said that something had come over the people and that it was his deliberate judgment that the banishment of whiskey was the main cause of the dimunition of crime. This, he said, made it all the more imperative to run down the maker of corn whiskey, whom he characterized not only as a law breaker, but as one practicing anarchistic tendencies.

As another evidence of the decrease in law-violation, the Judge cited the infrequency of terms of the courts of justices of the peace. He said that it used to be no uncommon thing for the magistrates throughout the counties to have at least one big court a month.

The first case disposed of was that of the State vs. L. B. James. This grew out of some differences between James and his brother-in-law, Dr. B. S. Dudley, wherein the latter alleged that James had failed to turn over some two or three hundred dollars in money which he recived from a sale of an automobile belonging to Dudley. It is understood that the matter was adjusted between the parties by James paying Dudley $300 hence the indictment was passed to the files.

The court adjourned Thursday afternoon. There was little important civil cases and some exceedingly petty ones.

The case of State vs. Tullos was continued.

The case of State vs. Veto Brewer from Tallahatchie county charging him with carnal knowledge of a 14 year old girl was continued. Brewer, it seems, is a pretty frequent attendant upon the courts and has been under various charges.

The court adjourned Thursday afternoon.

The following is the final report of the grand jury:

To The Hon. T. L. Lamb, Circuit Judge:

We the Grand Jury named by your Honor to sit during this term of the circuit court of Grenada County beg leave to make this, our final report:

We have been in session for four days. We have made diligent effort to get at all violations of law. We have investigated all matters brought to our attention. We have left nothing undone to carry out our oaths.

We have examined 53 witnesses and have returned 9 true bills. We have examined the books of the County officers, as required by law, and insofar as we have been able in the time we have had, we desire to say that the books are correctly and neatly kept. We desire to give our commendation to the law passed by the last legislature which requires the making of a "county budget". By virtue of this law, the board of supervisors of the County found it necessary to install a new system of bookkeeping. It is very plain. Anybody, almost, can get an accurate track of a matter and we wish to say that the Chancery Clerk is keeping these new books exceedingly nice.

The dockets of the justices of the peace of the County have been examined and we found some of them very well kept. but in many cases, we found entries made with pencil which we think should have been made with pen and ink and we urge upon these officials that they take greater care in this matter.

We examined the jail and found same in excellent sanitary condition and the prisoners being well cared for. The jail proper is in very fair repair. Our court house is in fair condition, but the toilets in the court yard are in bad condition. How they can be kept otherwise, we cannot say. It seems that many who use the toilets are as careless as an ox or a pig would be. We urge men of this character to stay away from these toilets which are so costly to the County. The iron fence on the north side of the court yard is in bad repair and if attention is not given it soon it will be greatly damaged.

We read a great deal about men dodging jury service. We think that if steps were taken to erect a jury room for the use only of jurors who are required to stay together from day to day, that a long step would be taken to make men cease to try to evade jury service. A room of this character could be provided with beds for twelve jurors and two bailiffs. To keep jurors locked up, when the weather is bad, and to require them to sleep on the court house floor on mattresses, is a very great deterrent for jury service. The ordinary court house floor, we are sure this one is, is very unsanitary, and when one looks at the matter in all its phases, he can see why the busy man tries to keep off of juries, and especially juries in which matters of moment to the entire county are involved.

We have not had the time to go into the matter properly and thoroughly, but it has been brought to our attention that some of theCounty and municipal officers of the County have been making contracts or selling their wares to the County and to the city. This is a bad public policy and is in direct violation of both the letter and the spirit of the law.

We have examined the hotels and public school buildings and have found them adequately equipped with fire escapes.

The old building of the Grenada College property is not sufficiently supplied with fire escapes. We also found the colored school building wanting in fire escapes. It is useless to emphasize the great importance of these matters and we urge the proper authorities to attend to these fire escapes without delay.

We are bound to conclude from the witnesses brought before us, that it is our opinion that there has been a great moral improvement in the County during the past few years. We think the situation in this regard is better than ever before. We want to urge our officers to continue their diligence and thereby help the Coun-

REFUSES TO SANCTION ACTION OF GOVERNOR

Supreme Court Overrules Lower Court in Russell's Attempt To Remove Insurance Commissioner Henry. Frank Roberson Resigns as Attorney General.

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 22.—That Governor Russell has no right to remove from office Insurance Commissioner T. M. Henry and install his own appointee, E. O. Coody, was the gist of a decision rendered by the supreme court this morning.

Insurance Commissioner T. M. Henry has no right to attach or make prior claim of any kind for the impounded funds of the fire insurance companies formerly doing business in Mississippi, and now being prosecuted by State Revenue Agent Stokes V. Robertson for alleged violation of the anti-trust laws. This is the gist of a decision rendered by the supreme court this morning.

The opinion was read by Justice Cook, and there was no dissenting opinion.

Impounded Funds

The impounded funds of the fire insurance companies amount to nearly a million dollars and are being held by the three receivers pending the outcome of the anti-trust litigation.

Shortly after the anti-trust suit was filed the funds of the defendant companies in the hands of local agents and underwriters were seized under writs of garnishment, to be held against possible judgments.

Fire Insurance Commissioner Henry intervened with a claim of about $175,000,000 of these funds due from the fire insurance firms as premium taxes, claiming that the state had prior claim. The insurance companies had refused to pay those taxes while the anti-trust suit was pending.

The supreme court in its decision today holds that the tax imposed on fire insurance companies is merely a privilege tax imposed for the privilege of doing business in the state, and the code section under which the tax is imposed does not create a lien for the tax imposed, and does not require that the amount shall be set aside out of premiums collected as a trust fund in the hands of the companies.

The insurance commissioner is not a tax collector within the meaning of Section 125 of the Constitution, says the supreme court, and the governor has power to remove only defaulting tax collectors and treasurers.

Several months ago the governor attempted to remove Commissioner Henry on the ground that he was short in his accounts, a report to this effect having been made to the executive office by State Revenue Agent Stokes V. Robertson, based on an audit of the books of the insurance department.

Commissioner Henry bitterly disputed the accuracy of the audit, and alleged that there was no shortage. The governor appointed E. O. Coody of Yazoo county to fill the unexpired term, and filed a writ of ouster to remove Mr. Henry from office.

Chancellor V. J. Stricker, in Hinds county chancery court, ruled in favor of the governor, but the supreme court now reverses this decree and dismisses the suit.

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 22.—Attorney General Frank Roberson today tendered his resignation to Governor Russell, effective on February 1st.

Judge Clayton Potter, of this city, former associate justice of the supreme court, and senior counsel for State Revenue Agent Stokes V. Robertson in the celebrated anti-trust litigation against the fire insurance companies formerly operating in the state, has been named by the governor to fill the unexpired term of about one year.

Mr. Roberson has accepted an offer of position as assistant general counsel for the National Board of Underwriters in New York.

CUNNINGHAM ISSUES CARD

To the Voters of District 5, Grenada County:

I take this method of announcing myself as a candidate for reelection to the office of supervisor, subject to the Democratic primaries.

I have tried to do my duty during the time I have served. Conditions have been difficult. I realize I have made some mistakes, but I shall try to not repeat them. I believe the errors I have made will serve to guard me against them in the future and therefore aid me in making you a better officer.

I appreciate fully the burdens of taxation, and if reelected, I shall vote and work to see that expenditures are not increased, and I promise to see that much less money is spent for some things. I therefore ask your consideration of my candidacy and promise if again honored by you to serve you honestly and faithfully and to the best of my ability.

Respectfully,
G. P. Cunningham.

THE CONFERENCE HELD MONDAY NIGHT

Much Round Table Talk. The Matter of Immigration and the County's Needs. B. F. Dulwebber and John Borden Present. Committees Named To Further Idea.

A conference was had at the instance of Mr. Sel Jones in Grenada Monday night with the purpose of evolving some plan whereby a stabilizing influence could be exercised upon the few Grenada County citizens who might be inclined to move elsewhere, but mainly to get other people desiring homes and farms to into the County. Besides Mr. Jones there were present: J. T. Thomas, E. H. White, W. B. Hoffa, H. M. Parker. Dr. H. T. Rogers, O. F. Lawrence, Kemp Mattingly and Sam Cain. Mr. B. F. Dulwebber, the astute head of the Kraetzer-cured Lumber Co. at LeFlore, and the manager of his farm there, Mr. T. J. Jordan, had come up to attend the conference, and fortunately Mr. John Borden, who had come down from his Chicago home that day to his Glenwild plantation, also added his presence to the meeting. Mr. Coleman of the Illinois Central development bureau was in town and present by special invitation.

There was much round table talk in which many phases of farm life and economic conditions were discussed. There was a unanimity of opinion that on of the great things needed in Grenada County, indeed throughout the entire State, was more people, a larger number of farmers and land owners. The problem was: How to get these here; how to interest them in the lands of the County.

Various schemes of circular, pamphlet and others of advertising were gone over. Quite a deal was said about what Madison County is doing in the way of locating new farmers in that county. From what was said, one would almost conclude that ideal methods of cooperation were followed in that County and that prices for lands to new-comers were practictlly what the new-comers would have them. Indeed it was stated that in the location of some World War soldiers there recently, that the price at which tracts were sold were left almost wholly to the man who was negotiating with these soldiers, and, it was stated that 16 soldiers were placed on snall farms which they bought at prices that suited them and at terms satisfactory to them.

Mr. Thomas talks at some length and reviewed in brief what the Grenada Bank had spent in efforts to make better and more contented farmers, and to get new farmers here and he said that while he was in no sense pessimistic, that he was forced to say that he was disappointed and discouraged. Mr. Thomas referred to increasing tax rates and the disappointing results from schools as to keeping people on the farms and as to bringing in new ones.

Mr. Borden stated very concretely that one of the first things essential in trying to induce farmers from other states to come to Grenada County, was to get blocks or tracts of land to offer them at attractive prices. He said that people would be loath to come where they would be turned over to real estate men who wanted all they could get for a piece of land.

Mr. Dulwebber made an interesting and business-like talk. He said he had nothing that he knew to be a sure shot; that he endorsed practically what Mr. Thomas and Mr. Borden stated. He referred to the advertisement of the Alluvial Land Association which he said had brought very little results. He said that he thought it covered too much territory, that in his judgment what was needed was advertising matter that was devoted to showing the advantages and opportunities of smaller areas.

Mr. Hoffa had much to say, all of which carried his usual enthusiasm and optimism. He was of the opinion, it seemed, that the best advertising medium for Grenada County was the development of the Fair and he seemed to think that the very best investment of money that could be made would be money put into the Fair. He insisted on further road development and more consolidated schools, and at this point, Mr. Thoma asked him how many, if any, home seekers did the Fair last fall bring to Grenada. Mr. Thomas also injected the statement here that the Gore Springs consolidated school in this County had not served to increase the citizenship of that locality but that on the contrary, there were a number less families there now than when the school was started.

Dr. H. T. Rogers made a very pointed talk in which he emphasized the need of more home owners, he gave a case in point of what had come under his observation in Texas where a man sold a large tract of land where there were no schools and no roads.

Mr. Mattingly gave as one of the causes of unsettled conditions the fact that the newspapers were having too much to say about high taxes. He seemed to think that most of the State papers of late were either full of stuff about taxes or politics. He said that while the rate of taxation was high, that assessments were low and that in but few instances was any one paying over twenty-five cents per acre in taxes.

County Agent White made several pointed talks that fitted well into what others had said, and particularly did he stress what was being done in Madison County. Mr. H. M. Parker told what Madison County had secured in the way of new citizens through systematic effort and cooperation.

Mr. Lawrence said that in regard to what the newspapers had been saying, that they usually reflected public sentiment. He cited the floating of time warrants or bonds to meet current expenses of the State, and stated that there would be a deficit of about ten million dollars confronting the next legislature when it meets next year. He said that figures were the easiest things in the world to befuddle the mind with, and that in his judgment measured by comparative wealth and comparative productivity of the lands, taxes were high. He said that as a rule in this County that where there is a tract of 400 acres of land, for instance, that hardly half of it is in a state of cultivation, yet that is taxed, when comparisons are made just as the other part of land. He said that The Sentinel had never printed anything editorially but what he had the facts to warrant and that so far as he was concerned that he expected the paper to represent his sentiment and his ideas and not some one else's.

It was a sort of free for all talk. It was a family affair, and out of it something good will come.

A DIGEST OF THE COMMITTEE'S ACTION

Committee Headed by J. T. Thomas Meets To Report on the Matter of Organizing to Get More People to Move into County. Some Potent Reasons Why Some Action Looking to That End is Necessary. Date to Be Fixed Later.

The following is in brief the action of a Committee on organization which was named Monday night at a conference of a few citizens held in Grenada. The Committee consists of J. T. Thomas, Sel Jones and E. H. White. The Committee met Tuesday afternoon and has asked that the following digest of its deliberations be published to the end that the people of the County may think and talk over the matter and prepare to take part in what is urged:

Believing in Grenada County, its traditions, its people, and that its natural resources are largely unutilized, and that it can accomodate a population more than double what it has today, a few citizens, after consulting together Monday night, determined to make an effort to set in motion forces that will at least partially realize in the very near future some of the opportunities and the possibilities that lie at our very doors. It was clearly developed as the judgment of the conference that the County cannot remain where it is. It must either go forward or else it will fall backwards. This is but a natural law. Standing still means stagnation; it means decay and death. If a child be very ill, however much the parents love the child, if they do not realize the seriousness and the gravity of its illness, it will not receive that scientific treatment and care so necessary to bring about it restoration.

It was determined to make an honest and determined effort to get the people of the entire County to thinking along this line with the view of making a County-wide effort to set forth the fertility of the soil, and its adaptableness, the evenness of the climate, the certainty of the seasons and the desirability of this section as a home, and to bring concretely and intelligently all these things before the people of other sections of this country where lands are high and where settlements are crowded.

It was the judgment of the conference that inasmuch as the matter under consideration touches the business and the social life of every man and woman in the County, that the entire County be asked, yea urged, to take part in the enterprise.

The Committee stated that it did not believe that there was a thoughtful citizen in the County who does not want more good citizens in the County; that there is not a farmer in the County who would not be pleased with more good neighbors and that there is not a landowner in the County who does not fully appreciate that more citizens help to lighten tax burdens, to make larger and better schools, larger congregations at the churches, abler and better paid ministers of the Gospel and a better neighborhood spirit.

There can be no doubt that within the next fifty years, whether the people of the present day do anything more or not, that 80 per cent of the lands of the County will be converted either into profit yielding farms or into pastures where beautiful cattle and fat hogs will browse. If this can be done, the thing, it seems to us, should be done today. Why wait for our children to do what we SHOULD do? To many of us, it makes little difference in a business way what happens, we can slip along through life and eke out some sort of an existence, but Providence holds us responsible for using the privileges and the opportunities of today so as to make life's pathway smoother, if possible, for our children.

The man who would not have his children succeed beyond what he has, is indeed to be pitied. And let no one deceive himself into thinking that our children will not have even graver and more difficult questions to deal with than we are having, or ever had. And this thought suggests, in passing, the query, What are we doing to settle the turmoil and distrust of the world today? Let each one answer for himself. It is somebody's business, and why yours any less than that of your neighbors or sombody else's neighbor?

We can not play the ostrich act and refuse to see that we are losing gradually our population of both white and black. Something must be done to make those we have with us who are bound only by slender or minor ties of business and other things more contented citizens.

It would be a happy day if there were not a single tract of land in the County lying idle. It would be a happy day for the County when every church was filled on the Sabbath day to hear the preached word. It would be a happy day when every school room was crowded and when one farmer could stand upon his door step and hallo across to his neighbor. Then would our banks be more prosperous; then would our merchants have less cause to frown and at times grow weary. All this is possible—it is a picture that in the near future will be realized in Grenada County.

For these and sundry other reasons, a mass meeting or conference of the people of every neighborhood in Grenada County will be called to assemble in Grenada at an early day, dne notice of which will be given by some member of this Committee.

Le this be the slogan of the County for the next few years at least, "More good citizens, more farmers, more capital and a more prosperous and contented citizenship". If this can be realized, nobody will be hurt, but every worthy citizen and every interest in the County will be bettered. How do you stand on it?

T. T. O'BRYANT FOR RAILROAD COMMISSIONER

The Sentinel is commissioned to place before its readers the name of T. T. O'Bryant of Batesville as a candidate for Railroad Commissioner from this district.

Mr. O'Bryant's home is in Panola County, where he was honored for several successive terms as chancery clerk and later as shriff, and in both places he is credited with having made a very capable, efficient and satisfactory official. Thus it may be said that he is intimately acquainted with the tax affairs of one of the largest counties in north Mississippi. His association with public matters gives him an insight into many matters and problems with which he would necessarily have to deal were he serving as rail road commissioner.

Mr. O'Bryant is a man of affairs. He has had large business connections, but at all times and under all circumstances, he has been just a plain man, and if any man in his county is in touch with the plain, everyday citizen, it is said to be T. T. O'Bryant. It is fair to assume that as he has been in his own county and with the affairs of his own county, so will he be with the affairs and the duties of rail road commissioner, should he be elected, and honored with increased responsibilities and larger duties.

That he is a faithful, upright citizen and honest man, none will gainsay. That he is thoroughly qualified for the important post, cannot be questioned. He is well located to reach the greater part of the district as easily and as readily as almost any one.

Since the question that was raised by the resignation of a former president of the Rail Road Commission because of certain happenings in regard to raising the rates of the Cumberland Telephone Co., it is realized as perhaps never before that the public should be alert to see that none but the true and tried are placed on the Commission.

Mr. O'Bryant is loyal to his friends and loyalty to friends is a pretty safe guarantee that a man will be true and loyal in other things.

CAR AND TRUCK SALES TOTAL 105,799

Sales of Ford cars and trucks during the month of December, 1922, exceeded the deliveries of any previous December during the history of the Ford Motor Company, the total deliveries made being 105,799, according to records of the company which are made public to Sentinel readers this week in this issue of the paper over the signature of the Grenada Motor Co., authorized Ford dealers in this territory. This unprecedented record indicates that the demand for the products of the Ford Motor Co. will far surpass the production capacity, especially in the spring, and it behooves those who are thinking of purchasing a car, truck or tractor to place their order now so as to insure delivery.

LAUDS PAT HARRISON

John Temple Graves, who spoke in Newton Tuesday night, in speaking of the great men of the past in Mississippi, referred to such statesmen as George, Walthall, Lamar and Jefferson Davis, said "but it is not necessary to look to the past. You have a senator in Washington now who ranks with the leaders of that august body, who is growing in wisdom every day, Pat Harrison. He is a wonderful man and I love him. The republicans fear him on the floor of the senate, and seek his companionship as soon as the day's work is over."

Mr. Graves states that Pat Harrison has at his finger tips the record of the republican party and every republican in the senate. "It makes no difference what the question of debate is, Pat Harrison knows how to prod the speaker, how to show up his position, and how to bring out his inconsistencies."

Speaking of the senior senator, Col. Graves said: "When John Sharp Williams leaves the senate that will be the nation's loss. He is a statesman in the real sense of the word. In debate he has no superiors in the senate and few equals. The republicans know this, and admire him for his wonderful mind, and his sincerity of purpose. When men like Lodge and Spooner pay tribute to an opponent it means something, and I have heard these men speak in the highest terms of John Sharp Williams."—Newton Record.

The King of the Hill

By Christopher G. Hazard

(©, 1922, Western Newspaper Union.)

THE long hill glistened in the winter moonlight like a frosted cake. The road that ran down it like a silvered ribbon, reaching across the railroad track and on through the valley, lost itself in a shimmering haze of snowy whiteness. The wind, as if afraid of awakening the sleeping town, had hushed itself into stillness, waiting along the way and under the shadows of the quiet trees for the signal of dawn. The scene was an invitation to a sport now largely displaced by rushing motor cars, but then one of the chief delights of the Christmas season. The bobsled of those days and nights was the pride of owners and the prize winner of competitions. The annals of the Slater Hill race course registered triumphs as real and momentous as those of any race track.

The moon had watched with an expectant eye until ten of the clock and was about to retire under a passing cloud in disappointment, when the clamor and shouting of an approaching crowd renewed its spirit. From a side street they came, merry lads and lasses, with those of later years who had not forgotten how to be young. Soon the head of the hill was crowded with competitors and the air rang with the bustling preparations for the first race.

The sleds of that time were no ordinary affairs. Large enough to hold from four to six passengers, they rejoiced in significant titles and all the beauty and comfort that their maker's art could put into shape, paint and upholstery. When loaded and on a steep and icy road they were swift enough to distance the wind, and uncontrolled by bit and bridle, they could not be stopped before reaching the foot of the incline. There was thus enough of adventure in their trips to furnish the tingling excitement that kept out the winter cold. The good-natured rivalry, too, gave interest to the sport.

This year there was a special reason for the gathering, for Tom Atkins, having received a Christmas present of a sled of the latest style and named "The King of the Hill," had been boasting that the title was a just one and arousing all the determination that the others had to prove him wrong. The "Dart," the "Racer," the "Dauntless," the "Peerless," and others as glorious were eager to beat the untried and vaunting newcomer.

The first race was inconclusive, for Atkins got a false start and tipped his load over into a snow bank. The second and the third races gave the laurels to the "Dart" and the "Peerless," respectively, and left Atkins' heart in his boots; but the fourth attempt ended with "The King of the Hill" a rod ahead and with its owner's chin protuberant and uplifted. Then time went by with varying fortunes until the concluding and deciding contest. It was agreed that the winner of this final should be crowned the king of the hill indeed, with none to dispute his right.

Amid the hubbub of these last arrangements no one had heard the distant whistle of "The Flyer," as the night express for Boston was called, and the competing sleds dashed away down the long descent without a thought of danger, nor, until half way down, did any danger appear, but then the locomotive's headlight flashed around the curve and upon the crossing, now but a short distance away, with a baleful and threatening glare. The other sleds, somewhat in the rear, were steered into the roadside snow or left to take care of themselves as their riders rolled off, but "The King of the Hill" kept on, in seeming ignorance of the imminent collision. Not until the warning blasts of the engine whistle seemed to startle him into action did Atkins move to save himself and his load. Then, with a wrench of his steering gear and a sturdy leg-sweep, he brought his sled about, throwing it over upon its side and upon its frightened load as the train swept by, almost brushing them on its way.

It was what the barber called "a close shave," and what Atkins called "as good as a mile," but the boys called it a victory and rode Atkins home on "The King of the Hill" with their full indorsement of the title.

The old hill is still there. It glitters yet in Christmas moonlights. But the boys and girls of the bobsled time have grown old, the later generation has new toys, and the glorious fun of Slater's Hill is but a memory. A pleasant memory it is, though, and that is a brave, bright spot in it that registers the night when Tom Atkins got a double score in beating both the racers and the train on his "King of the Hill."

INJURY DONE AGRICULTURAL INTERESTS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20,1923

The autocratic powers conferred upon the Director of the Budget and the arbitrary manner in which the Budget Bureau is reducing appropriations, estimated as absolutely necessary by the varions Department, is working untold injury to the Agricultural interests of the country, is the charge of Senator Pat Harrison who has taken a leading part in all matters pertaining to agriculture, farm credits and kindred subjects.

While discussing the Agricultural Appropriation Bill this week, Senator Harrison said, with reference to the operation of the Budget:

"I showed day before yesterday at least 15 cases where the Budget Bureau had reduced, and in many instances greatly reduced, certain items for agriculture. I shall not delay the Senate by citing many of the instances which I have here, but will refer to a few of them. The Bureau of the Budget made reductions in the items for improvement of methods of crop production,horticultural investigations, maintenance of roads for national parks, prevention of the sale of deleterious foods, and soil investigations. On that one item alone the estimate was decreased by $48,000 by the Bureau of the Budget.

"Is this a time for appropriations to be made that do not answer to the needs of agriculture? At this time when the farmers of the great Middle West and certain parts of the South are suffering as they have never suffered before because of reduced prices for their products, should they now receive at the hands of Congress reductions in many items contained in the Agricultural appropriation bill? It is a good time, perhaps, to reduce appropriations for the Navy and for the Army and for many other branches of the Government service, but I say that it is not a time to reduce to provide adequate appropriations to fight insects affecting the farmers' crops, to conserve the food supply from wild animals, and for numerous other purposes which I have indicated to the Senate.

"The Agricultural Department is not to blame; it is the Budget Bureau that is to blame. I do not blame the President of the United States so much, for he can not go over the numerous reports and study them himself, but must rely upon the men who are designated to carry on the work. There has been placed in the hands of the Budget Bureau too much power.

"There are two remedies which will solve the difficulty. One is to adopt an amendment such as I have proposed, not only as to the Agricultural Department but as to the other departments, and the other is to change the rules of the Senate so that an individual Senator may offer an amendment to increase an appropriation where an estimate has been made by one of the departments of the Government for the appropriation; indeed, personally I would go beyond that and say that a Senator shall have a right to offer an amendment to an appropriation bill increasing the amount carried, notwithstanding any limitation or restriction placed upon such action by the estimate of a department of the Government, because in our hands is lodged originally the power to make appropriations and to legislate for the country. Today we can not do so; we can receive the report of the Bureau of the Budget and without protest must accept that report."

TO DADDY IN HEAVEN

Your photograph I fondly hold,
It's more to me than fame or gold.
I hold it here where I can see
The face that was so dear to me
And look into your eyes so brown,
For comfort there, I've always found.

Oh, if those lips could move again
And you were still an earthly man,
If your tall figure still could walk
And that dear voice could sing and talk;
You'd take away the sting of sadness
And fill our hearts with joy and gladness.

I close my eyes to stop the tears
And memory takes me back thru years;
See I am but a child once more
And you're there as in days of yore
I see the love is shining there
In your eyes 'neath coal black hair.

Please, Daddy, speak and let me hear
Your voice so tender and so clear—
Call me to your bedside there,
Where I so loved to kneel in prayer.
How I would love to hear you say
"Where has my baby been to-day?"

"Come tell Dad all the things you played
And of the nice mud pies you made."
Then I will tell you every game
And every little playmate's name.
Ah, then you'll kiss me once again
And say "goodnight my little man."

JOHN SHARP WILLIAMS ON THE LAIR

In the course of a speech in congress recently, Senator Williams, of Mississippi, said he believed that "the Federal or state government or somebody ought to provide that whenever a man tells a lie in selling anything, he ought to be subject to being sent to the penitentiary for having got money under false pretenses when he told the lie." Amen! And a severe penalty ought to be imposed on the fellow who tells a lie for other purposes. Justice would be more fully carried out in the courts if there were not so many people who go on the witness stand and perjure themselves. There is no telling how much suffering is caused by the liar. No wonder "the liar is an abomination to the Lord." He is an abomination to all honest men, too.—Newton Record.

The Minister and the "Vamp"

By Mary Graham Bonner

(©, 1922, Western Newspaper Union.)

NOW the minister was young and enthusiastic and eager. He loved his work, he loved the parish. He loved the people. They were a bit too talkative at times. They did enjoy telling him just how he should preach and act and think and do. But it was all so well meaning that it failed to annoy him. Sometimes when he might have been annoyed he became amused instead. It was so much the better way.

The minister was extremely attractive. Every woman in the parish knew that. Every man admired the minister, too. His was a most engaging personality.

But things became a trifle awkward when it appeared as though the minister could not talk to any one of the opposite sex for more than ten minutes without arousing observations.

And how weary he did get of being told he mustn't take the last piece of cake in a dish. It was so tiresome a bit of so-called witticism.

He realized that it might be difficult for a minister to be permitted to choose a wife for himself. He somehow had a new admiration for ministers who appeared to have done their own matrimonial choosing.

He feared that one might even take almost anyone to dodge the constant comments and chatter on matrimony which an unmarried man seemed to encounter.

And then the minister fell in love! Oh, madly and rapturously in love. And with a girl from out-of-town whom people said was not the type for a minister's wife, at all, at all. And the minister had said he hadn't looked for a type, he had picked out the one he had cared for.

He even heard people whispering the word "vamp." "A vamp who had ensnared him," someone said. He inquired the various definitions of the word "vamp." He almost failed to be amused; he became so angry. And this was the joyous Christmas season when love and good will should have been in the hearts of his people!

He Came Into the Chapel and Told of His Engagement.

A man told him a "vamp" was a dangerous delight.

A woman told him a "vamp" was a woman without principle.

A young boy told him a "vamp" was a misunderstood, innocent lady with sense enough to appreciate that "men" of seventeen were not children.

An oculist told him that a "vamp" was an adept at the possible uses of the eye muscles.

An old man said a "vamp" was a dear little girl.

And a mother told him a "vamp" was a dangerous creature from whom every mother should keep a son as from a deadly poison.

A young girl told him she envied a "vamp" and wished she could be called one.

And a father told him that a "vamp" was one from whom it is best to keep away the son, but whose society it was all right for an older man to enjoy.

He sought the dictionary's version and found "Vamp" described as dealing with such things as feet, short hose, parts of boots and shoes, music, and various other things.

They were making the Christmas decorations for the church when the minister came into the chapel and told them all of his engagement.

"The wedding is to be on Christmas eve," he said.

Everyone stopped winding ground pine and looked amazed. They muttered congratulations, and then the future wife appeared and worked with them.

And then they all began to feel better. For while they had been gossiping and quarreling pettily as they had worked, the future wife of the minister brought with her the spirit of the Christmas season. Perhaps she wasn't a typical wife for a minister they concluded, but she was an ideal wife for a minister.

For she lived and breathed goodwill and cheer and her gaiety freshened the very atmosphere of the place and gave them new incentive.

The minister called her his "vamp!" His definition of one was:

"A Merry Christmas in real life!"

DISCOURTEOUS TO SHERIFF

Only legs that carried the body away rapidly saved A. A. Falkner of district 5 from falling into the hands of Sheriff Dogan last Friday afternoon. That officer made an official visit to Falkner's home with the intention of looking his premises over with the view of giving him a clean bill of health if nothing to the detriment of Falkner's neighbors was found. But Falkner did not treat the sheriff with the courtesy to welcome him or to show any appreciation of his visit. He acted upon the theory that a good run to a man who operates a still is better than interviewing the sheriff and looking the circuit judge in the face. The sheriff pursued Falkner for some distance, but to no purpose, for the speed that Falkner showed was too much. A search of Falkner's premises revealed 200 gallons of mash and all the paraphernalia for turning out a fluid that not only upsets the brain but that sends many of those who imbibe it to an early grave. This last one makes the 28th for Sheriff Dogan since April 1 last, the date he went into office.

JOHN WESLEY NEVER SAID IT

In his interesting sermon in The States Wednesday Arthur Brisbane attributes the following to the founder of Methodism:

"Seeing a drunkard in the gutter, John Wesley said, 'But for the grace of God, there lies John Wesley'."

So far as we can learn from the dictionary of quotations and from other sources, Mr. Wesley never said this. Anyone who reads his life-story will readily see how he, could not have said it. From his infancy to the grave he was a singularly pure man.

This expression or one similar to it has often been attributed to John Bunyan, author af the immortal Pilgrim's Progress, a book which is in every man's library and which few men ever read. But Bunyan did not originate it, any more than Wesley did.

The real author of the expression was John Bradford, born 1510, officially burned to death at Smithfield 1555. One day he saw the cart go by with a felon in it on his way to Tyburn, and from his lips burst: "There but for the grace of God, goes John Bradford."

This saying became a proverb in England thereafter, and is still repeated with personal application. Any religious enthusiast might use it, but the authorship goes to him who was burned for his faith in the 16th century—John Bradford.—New Orleans States.

A MASON'S PRAYER

Teach me that 60 seconds make a minute, 100 cents a dollar and 16 ounces a pound.

Help me so to live that I can lie down at night to sleep, not toss, shave myself in the morning and look the man before me in the eye.

Grant that I may earn my meal ticket on the level and in earning it that I may measure my acts by the Golden Rule.

Deafen me to the jingle of the dirty dollar and to the rustle of unholy petticoats.

Blind me to the faults of the other fellow and open my eyes to my own shortcomings.

Guide my footsteps so that each evening at the dinner table when I look at my wife, who has been a blessing to me, I shall have nothing to conceal.

Keep me young enough to laugh with the little tots and sympathetic enough to be considerate of old age.

Then when come the day of lowered shades, the soft footsteps and the smell of tube roses, make the ceremony short and let the fellows say, "He was a good Mason."—From the Kiwanis Torch.

PREACHES ON BUSINESS AND RELIGION

Rev. S. S. Posey, a Presbyterian minister of Topeka, Kansas, preached two sermons recently on "Business and Religion". Both sermons, it seems were based on the Book of Proverbs which the minister called the "best business guide". The preacher's sermons, while showing the pitfalls of money-hunting and of emphasizing "business" to the exclusion of the better things of life, emphasise that correct business and big transactions are not incompatible with correct religious standards.

In the opening sermon he said "Solomon was especially well equipped to speak to practical business men. He was not a preacher; he was a man of affairs with brains enough to see the moral laws which sweep through the world, and the ability to state them. Solomon was at the head of some pretty big business enterprises. He built two large palaces, a magnificent temple, and a law court; he fortified the cities of Jerusalem and Millo with vast walls and towers. In this work he employed 80,000 men to hew timber and cut stone, 70,000 men as carriers, and 36,000 men as overseers. These were large contracts measured even by the standards of present-day big business. They involved trade with a foreign country, and a big transport business by sea."

In the course of the sermons, Dr. Estey brought out the following sane rules of business, all of which are based on Solomon's teachings.

Don't love money more than character. (Prov. 22:1). "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favor rather than silver and gold."

Don't go in debt. (Prov. 22:7) ". . . . the borrower is a servant (slave) to the lender."

Don't go on anyone's note or bond. (Prov. 11:15) "He that is surety for a stranger shall smart for it; and he that hateth suretyship is sure."

Don't cheat with false measures and weights. (Prov. 11:1) "A false balance is abomination to the Lord; but a just weight is his delight."

Don't corner the market on grain, or fruit, or coal, or any other commodity necessary to the life of the people. (Prov. 11:26.) "He that withholdeth corn, the people shall curse him; but blessing shall be upon the head of him that selleth it."

Don't get entangled in any get-rich-quick scheme. (Prov. 28:22) "He that hasteth to be rich hath an evil eye, and considereth not that poverty shall come upon him."

Don't form a trust or any organization in restraint of trade. (Prov. 11:21) "Though hand join in hand, the wicked shall not be unpunished; but the seed of the righteous shall be delivered."

Don't associate with evil men. (Prov. 1:10) "My son, if sinners entice thee consent thou not."

Don't give way to sensual pleasures. (Prov. 21:17) "He that loveth pleasure shall be a poor man; he that loveth wine and oil shall not be rich."

Be diligent in business. (Prov. 22:29) "Seest thou a man diligent in his business? He shall stand before kings; he shall not stand before mean (lowly) men."

Consult and counsel with other people. Don't think you know it all. (Prov. 15:22) "Without counsel purposes are disappointed; but in the multitude of counsellors they are established."

Keep your business affairs to yourself. (Prov. 13:3) "He that keepeth his mouth keepeth his life; but he that openeth wide his lips shall have destruction."

Lay up something for the future. (Prov. 6:6-8) "Go to the ant thou sluggard; consider her ways, and be wise; which, having no guide, overseer, or ruler, provideth her meat in the summer, and gathereth her food in the harvest."

Look after deatils. (Prov. 27:23-24) "Be thou diligent to know the state of thy flocks, and look well to thy herds; for riches are not forever"

Make your children stand on their own feet, not on your back. (Prov. 20:21) "An inheritance may be gotten hastily at the beginning; but the end thereof shall not be blessed."

Take time to make friends. They are necessary to business success. (Prov. 18:24) "A man that hath friends must show himself friendly."

Look for the good in people and things. (Prov. 11:27) "He that diligently seeketh good procureth favor; but he that seeketh mischief, it shall come unto him."

Be generous in expenditures that are demanded for improvement and progress. (Prov. 11:24) "There is that scattereth, and yet increaseth; and there is that withholdeth more than is meet, but it tendeth to poverty."

Give a tenth, or some larger portion, of your income regularly to the work of bringing in God's kingdom of righteousness and love on earth. (Prov. 3:9-10) "Honor the Lord with thy substance, and with the first fruits of all thy increase. So shall thy barns be filled with plenty, and thy presses shall burst out with new wine."

Put your religion into your business. It pays to do right. (Prov. 12:3) "A man shall not be established by wickedness; but the root of the righteous shall not be removed."

WHAT BILL ARP GOT

I never took a newspaper that did not pay me more than I paid for it. One time an old friend of mine started a newspaper way down South and sent me a copy and I subscribed for it, just to encourage him and after a while it published an order to sell a lot and I told a friend to run it up to $50. He bid it off at $38 and sold it in less than a month for $100 so I made $62 just by taking that paper. My father told me that when he was a young man he saw a notice in a paper that a school teacher was wanted in some distant country, and a little girl was sent to him and after a while she grew up sweet and beautiful and he married her. Now if he had not taken that paper what do you suppose would have become of me? I would not have been at all.—Bill Arp.

WHAT GRENADA COUNTY CAN BE MADE

Nature has done her part for Grenada County. She has as great a number of good, God-fearing, law-abiring people in her midst as any other section of the size in all the land. Her people are lovable. These people, if they will, can make the County one of the garden spots of the South.

With what Nature has done and with a people such as we have, it would seem not to be an idle or a boastful statement to say that the destiny of the County as to future farm and business conditions can be made whatever these people want it to be.

We have but to look at other states, some of the older states of the Union, to see what they are doing with soil less fertile and with surroundings less assuring than we have. It is no dream to state that at no distant day, beautiful pasture grass and well fed cattle and fat hogs, sheep and goats will adorn almost every hill side in the County. We have lots of good land, and we have but little that will not yield to the same demands that are proving so profitable in other states.

SUPREME COURT CRIMPS LEE RUSSELL AGAIN

It is no uncommon thing for Gov. Lee Russell to get crimped. That is usually the case when the want of gray matter allows one to shoot off his mouth without warrant or reason.

The latest case is that of the Supreme Court telling his pomposity that he could not remove State Insurance Commissioner T. M. Henry, to make place for one of his satellites.

The charge against Henry was that he had collected certain funds from certain insurance companies, and had failed to promptly pay the same into the State treasurer, however, there was no allegation that Mr. Henry had profited in the least by the delay. We know nothing of the reasons why the money was not turned into the State treasurer at once, whether this was his fault or someone else's, and we are not concerned for the present at least with any negligence that might have been charged against him. Everybody who knows him, and his acquaintance is state-wide, knows him to be the soul of honor.

Russell at once hopped into the breach, all panoplied, booted and spurred, and ordered Mr. Henry to go, but Henry told him, in effect, that his peanut brain was again leading him awry, and that his fiat was not worth a tinker's dam.

If Mississippi had a sanatorium for some of her bat-like officials, the people might be spared further humiliation by sending his excellency to it. However there is little hope to develop Russell for the reason that he has so little to work on.

NOT CORRECT AS TO 1921 TAXES

The following from the Smith County Reformer is correct as the date fixed for the payment of taxes for the year 1922 as one of the requisites to qualify for voting this year, but the taxes for 1921 may be paid even after Feb. 1. Nevertheless they must be paid.

It would be well for the ladies who did not pay their 1921 taxes, and who did not register or even offer to vote in the primaries or in the general election last year, to bear in mind that if they were 21 years of age February 1, 1921, that the taxes for 1921 will haveto be paid before they are qualified to vote this 1921 will have to be paid before they are qualified to vote this not relieve any one of taxes. The Constitution of Mississippi fixes a poll tax of $2, on all voters.

Here is what the Smith County Reformer says:

"All persons who did not pay their poll taxes in 1921, will, if they expect to vote in the primaries of the coming summer, be required to pay not only the poll tax assessed against them for the year 1922, but in addition thereto, the sum of $3.20 for the year 1921 as well, and do not forget that all this must be done on or before February 1, 1923.

HATTIESBURG AMERICAN ON BOND ISSUES

If a man were heard to boast of the luxuuries he was buying and the debts he was incurring which his young grandson would have to pay, doing it deliberately, saying his generation would all be dead and the luxuries long vanished before the new generation came along to wrestle with the debts, he would be considered foolish and selfish beyond measure. Many people might think the services of an alienist indicated.

Yet cities, townships, counties and states do that right along. Under the present system of non taxable bonds, they are indulging in a veritable orgy of running debts for grandchildren to pay. Commenting along this line, an Eastern paper says:

"It is undoubtedly a splendid thing for the growing youth to have the most expensive junior high school in seven states to go to. The French teacher, domestic science laboratory and swimming pool are all desirable. Yet if a parent on a modest income tried to provide these things for his children privately, trusting to them to pay, he would be considered out of his head. It is true that many parents can provide what one cannot. But it is impossible for a community of a few thousand people to provide such things without preposterous debt.

"Reasonable debt for long-lived properties, incurred in a business-like manner, with a definite plan to pay off so much each year from current income, amortizing the whole cost long before the building dies, is one thing. Wild debt for short-lived properties, gone before the bonds are due, is different."

The schools are the most easily defensible extravagances of this riotous era. Yet even in that case, it looks rather as if a generation were being educated in extravagance and passing the buck, along with the French and manual training. Perhaps the mental and moral training acquired by doing more work with the mind within and less with the equipment without might compensate for the lack of some of the educational luxuries. Certainly a luxurious and buck-passing environment today is not the best preparation for the back-breaking burdens it will make necessary tomorrow.—Hattiesburg American.

The Ruleville Record published a rather amusing letter from a Mr. L. L. Magee, one of Sunflower County's citizens, to the sheriff of Lincoln County. This man stated that he lived in Lincoln County until taxes got so high that he had to move elsewhere to make tax money. But in going to Sunflower County, it seems that he thinks he jumped out of the frying pan into the fire. The letter to the Lincoln County sheriff closes with a burst of poetic humor as shown in the following lines:

No one knows if he's in heaven or hell;
His head was bald, his eyes were blue,
His legs were short, and his fingers too.
His friendship was strong, his religion frail,
But were'er he lands, 'twill be in his shirt-tail.
His life has been filled with many thrills,
But one thing sure, he's rid of the 49½ mills."

Taxes are high,
"Boosting" is cheap,
Figures don't lie
But interest rates eat.

WINTER DRIVING IN A DODGE

The Meek Motor Co., one of the leading automobile firms in this section, is advertising the Dodge Brothers motor car in this week's Sentinel and in this advertisement are set forth some of the many good reasons why this car is easily adapted to cold weather driving. The curtains fit snugly and open and close with the doors which affords plenty of protection from the cold and disagreeableness of winter. This gives the conveniences of the closed car without the additional cost. The carburetor and starter perform their work in winter as in summer. Another good feature of the Dodge, which is extensively advertised, is that "the first cost is practically the last."

CARD OF THANKS FROM MR. ROSE

I feel in my heart such gratitude to the people of Grenada, and to my friends generally, who have been so thoughtful and considerate to me since my misfortune, that I consider that I would be less than human did I not in some public way express my appreciation.

Only the interposition of the hand of a loving God saved me from death when I was caught in the machinery at my saw mill. I am grateful to Him and shall try to so live that I may show my appreciation day by day to Him.

After I was hurt and was brought to Grenada, it seemed that so many were so thoughtful of me, that I felt that the Angels were almost visiting me. I want to thank Doctors Sharp and Clanton for their good attention. May each and all get that reward which comes only from Heaven.

Most sincerely,
J. M. Rose,
Mrs. J. M. Rose and children.

ATTRIBUTE THEIR SUCCESS TO NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

Advocates Use of Newspaper Publicity.

In an interview today, Mr. Warren Wright, president of the Calumet Baking Powder Company strongly advocated the use of Newspaper advertising, and points to Calumet's success as proof of his statement.

"Calumet sales are 2½ as much as any other brand", stated Mr. Wright, "and we attribute this to our lavish use of newspaper space. We believe that the newspaper is the most direct medium we can use in getting our message across to the housewife and we know from our experience covering thirty years, that the housewife will respond to newspaper advertising quicker than she will to any other form of advertising.

The housewives have confidence in newspaper advertisements because they know that the newspapers set up high standards for their advertisers. It is for that reason that the housewife looks to the newspaper for information on products in which she is interested."

THE OVERLAND SEDAN

One of the most handsome and attractive cars on the market today is the new Overland sedan which is advertised in this issue of The Sentinel. The ad states that the new sedan is better ventilated and roomier, better looking, and more economical, giving twenty-five, and more, miles to the gallon of gasoline. The patented Triplex springs and oversize cord tires make for easier riding. And the price puts the comforts of closed car driving within the reach of all. The new Overland Sedan may be seen in the showrooms of the Grenada Auto Co. who handle this excellent car in Grenada.

J. T. MOORE DIED SATURDAY

Mr. J. T. Moore died at his home in Grenada last Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, and his remains were shipped that afternoon to Dickson, Tenn., his former home.

Mr. Moore and family came to Grenada something more than two years ago after he had purchased what is now Moore's cafe. His health was run down and much impaired and in a short while, his physician diagnosed his trouble as tuberculosis. He grew from bad to worse and has been confined to his room for several months.

He was a clever, genial and obliging man, and had lived according to the best lights before him. His children show that the father, as well as the good mother and wife who survives him, had the right conception of life and that he had thought much on the things of God and His righteousness.

Mr. Moore was 65 years of age. Besides his wife, he is survived by two sons and three daughters, to whom The Sentinel tenders condolence.

MRS. S. O. MARTIN DIED LAST SATURDAY

Mrs. S. O. Martin died at her home in Grenada last Saturday morning after a lingering illness of tuberculosis and her remains were laid to rest in Odd Fellows' cemetery Sunday afternoon, after funeral services from the residence conducted by Rev. J. R. Cunningham of the Presbyterian church, her pastor, Rev. W. E. Farr of the First Baptist church being out of town.

Mrs. Martin was 37 years of age. She was reared near Tillatoba and was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Taylor.

She was a loving, kind and thoughtful wife and an affectionate and self-sacrificing mother. She met every duty as best she could and it was her aim and purpose at all times to so live and to so act as to meet the approval of a Loving Heavenly Father.

Death always leaves sorrow and sadness. To those without the Christian's hope and the Christian's faith, it is a dark and dismal route to somewhere. When a mother is taken, the picture is a thrice times sad one, but her husband and the three children who survive her, one an infant of only two and one half months, can take consolation in the promises of a Risen Lord.

To the sorrowing The Sentinel renders sincere sympathy.

MRS. LUCY LEA SCRUGGS PASSED TO THE BEYOND

Mrs. Lucy Lea Scruggs passed to the beyond at the home of her niece, Mrs. W. T. Pate in Jackson, at an early hour last Sunday morning. Her remains were brought to Grenada Monday, and after services at the Methodist church at 2:30 o'clock, in the afternoon, conducted by her friend and former pastor, Rev. R. A. Tucker, assisted by Rev. Mellville Johnson and Dr. J. R. Countiss, were laid to rest in Odd Fellows' cemetery.

Mrs. Scruggs was 68 years of age. She had been in a low state of health for several years. Her condition became such, that she rented her residence in Grenada and bought a home in Biloxi in the hope that she might get relief. She did grow better for a while, yet she realized that her condition was gradually growing more critical. She was in Grenada for the last time in the latter part of last summer, and while she attended services at the Methodist church, of which she had for years been a devoted member, and received and visited her friends, yet she talked of death as if it were but the gate-way to a happier and better home.

She went from Grenada to Jackson shortly after this and in a few weeks her condition became critical. For some days before the end, she was in a semi-conscious condition.

Mrs. Scruggs was a noble minded, gracious, kind, generous and thoughtful woman. She had positive ideas. What she believed, she resolutely adhered to. Fate had given her far more than the ordinary individual of worldly goods, but she tried to use of what she had to bring cheer, joy and comfort to the less fortunate. She never denied an appeal for charity. She was generous with her church. She hunted opportunities to minister unto others. She spoke harshly of no one. She withheld harsh judgment, even though she might have felt that it was due, believing that that was left to her Maker. She was unpretentious and simple in her habits. She looked and acted the woman that is pictured in the imagination as the grandmother of the present generation. In the years ago, she had made a profession of religion and united with the Methodist church, and as the days passed, her faith grew brighter and more and more did her life reflect the beauty and completeness of a fixed and steady faith in God and in the richness of a crucified and Risen Lord. She kept the faith.

The following relatives from out of town were present at the funeral: Capt. W. T. Pate and wife, of Jackson, W. T. Dinkins of Kansas City, Mr. R. L. Taylor and wife and Misses Lucy B. and Betsy Lea of Memphis and Miss Winnie Lea of Clarksdale and W. E. Penn of New Orleans.

To the sorrowing The Sentinel extends sincere sympathy.

"A Godsend to Me Says Mrs. Taylor"

Declares Relief From Her Troubles Came at Once on Taking Stella Vitae Treatment.

"Stella Vitae is nothing less than a godsend to suffering women; I know because it helped me when everything else failed to do me any good," said Mrs. J. W. Taylor, of McFadden, Ark.

"I know I was in bad fix because at times I would belch up bloody mucus from my stomach, and then my head would ache fit to split and my back nearly lay me out from hurting so bad. My legs, too, gave me no end of trouble aching and hurting so it was misery for me to stand or stir about. I was terribly nervous and sometimes greatly exhausted and fit for nothing.

"I had hardly started on Stella Vitae before I began to feel ever so much better, and my improvement kept up till I had gotten completely over my troubles.

"Would that every woman knew about this wonderful treatment, there would be that many more happy women in the world if they did."

Note—Stella Vitae may be obtained from any druggist and is sold upon the positive guarantee that the purchase price will be refunded if it fails to bring relief. Druggists are supplied from the Van Vleet-Mansfield Drug Co., Memphis, Tenn., Distributors.—Adv.

NOTICE TO CAR OWNERS, COMMERCIAL MOTOR VEHICLE OWNERS AND TO MOTOR CYCLE, OR TWO WHEELED VEHICLE OWNERS.

Your car licenses are due and must be paid during the month of January, or I shall be required to add 100 per cent penalty. The sheriff has no discretion in the matter. The law is mandatory, and however disagreeable or unpleasant it might be to me, I shall have to follow the law. All car owners of every kind are due to pay license. The owner of every vehicle of whatever kind that is propelled by another than muscular power is required to pay license. Of course such vehicles as fire engines or ambulances are exempt. The law applies to motor cycles or any vehicle where two wheels touch the ground. I therefore want to urge those who own any of these cars or other vehicles to come forward without delay and get your license. We are excedingly busy at the sheriff's office collecting taxes, all of which become delinquent after Feb. 1, and if everybody waits, it might be that we could not wait on all of our friends the last day. Your attention is most respectfully called to these matters.

1-12-4t Trustee.

TAXES DELINQUENT AFTER FEB. 1

As almost everybody knows, all taxes of whatsoever kind, are delinquent after Feb. 1. I therefore want to ask the taxpayers not to overlook this very important matter and to be sure to come to the Sheriff's office between now and Feb. 1, and pay taxes. The law extending the time to April 1, before damages could be added, applied to last year only, and is not in force and effect now. Furthermore, a failure to pay taxes on or by Feb. 1, disqualifies one for voting that year. If it is not convenient for any taxpayer to come to the Sheriff's office, and if he or she will request it, we shall be glad to mail a statement of taxes due, and one can remit by check or otherwise. We are ready to serve you in any way we can, but the law positively states the date at which all taxes become delinquent.

EPIDEMIC OF WHOOPING COUGH

County Health Officer Makes Statement to Public.

I know that there are a number of cases of whooping cough in Grenada County, and from information which I have obtained, I am sure that it has reached the point that the County is threatened with an epidemic of it. It is a disease that often proves very dangerous to children. I wish to advise parents and school authorities that children who have whooping cough, or those from homes afflicted with it, should not be allowed to come to school, and where children are at school and known to have it, they should be sent home. Safety demands that children afflicted with whooping cough should be kept at home for a period of six weeks. I ask the aid and the cooperation of the parents of the County and I trust I shall not be called on to enforce the regulations herein indicated, as I am authorized and empowered to do, by law. I especially enjoin the school teachers of the County to be on the alert for whooping cough among their pupils. Wise action on their part may save the practical breaking up of their schools for this session.

January 12, 1923.

Respectfully,
R. A. CLANTON,
Health Officer Grenada County.

BAD BACK TODAY?

Backache is usually kidney-ache and makes you dull, nervous and tired. Use Doan's Kidney Pills for weak kidneys—the remedy recommended by your friends and neighbors. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. Mary Tribble, 207 Green St., Grenada, says: I know Doan's Kidney Pills are a good medicine as they have been used in our home with beneficial results. I always use them for a disordered condition of my kidneys. My kidneys were weak and caused a lot of annoyance. I had occasional attacks of backache, too. After I began using Doan's Kidney Pills relief followed. I gladly recommend Doan's."

The above statement was given June 14, 1918 and on April 12, 1922, Mrs. Tribble added: "It was surprising to find how soon Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of kidney trouble several years ago. Since then I have only used them occasionally to flush my kidneys. They have kept my kidneys healthy. I cannot praise Doan's too highly."

PERHAPS

Perhaps above, unknown to us below—
Those whom we love, to God doth daily go,
And kneeling there, before the heavenly throne—
Plead with sweet prayer, that mercy may be shown.

Perhaps unknown, they come to us in dreams—
And in soft tone, like gentle glowing streams—
Whisper a song so full of hope's sweet cheer—
It makes us strong, and drives away all fear.

Perhaps—who knows? God sends them, when despair
Our hearts o'erflows, to lighten all our care:
He knows our frame, that we are but dust—
In sin and shame helpless, we can but trust.

Perhaps for this, He sends them to us here,
To fill with bliss, and sinking spirits cheer;
For God doth know we need encouragement—
Like the rainbow—to men of old was sent.

Perhaps it may, that in God's wisdom way—
Just to allay our fearsome thoughts each day—
He lets them come to hove 'bout our bed—
And comfort's crumb, o'er all our troubles spread.

Perhaps, but nay! I will not further write—
For every day we see God's love and might:
Let us but trust in love and confidence—
For great and just is God's benevolence.

Everything Points to the Greatest Spring Demand for Ford Products in Company's History

1,202.517 Ford Cars and Trucks were delivered to retail purchasers in the United States alone during 1922--

Actual deliveries for last month greatly exceeded any previous December in the history of the Ford Motor Company--

It was the ninth consecutive month in which more than 100,000 Ford Cars and Trucks were retailed--keeping the Ford Plants working at capacity to meet dealers' requirements--

In many parts of the country dealers are already finding it necessary to specify later delivery dates on certain types because there are no reserve stocks to draw from--

Commercial users, business houses and farmers. anticipating their future requirements, are placing orders and taking delivery of Ford Cars, Trucks and Fordson Tractors to insure against delay--

Everything points to the biggest shortage of Ford Products this Spring that has ever existed--

The only way you can be sure of obtaining delivery of a Ford Car, Truck or Fordson Tractor is to list your order immediately--

We have given you these facts as they actually exist so that if you are planning to purchase a Ford Car, Truck or Tractor for use this Spring or Summer, you can list your order now and take advantage of our dealer's first opportunity to make delivery

PERMANENT PROSPERITY FOR SOUTHERN FARMERS

"Why wouldn't it be a good idea to start right now establishing permanent farm prosperity on every Southern farm, to take the place of the regular see-saw into debt and out of debt that has been going on for fifty years or more," said H. G. Hastings of Atlanta, prominent agricultural leader, recently.

"Enough money has come into the South during the last twenty-five years for cotton to have made this the wealthiest agricultural section instead of the poorest. Where has all these billions upon billions of dollars gone?

"These cotton dollars have largely gone to the North and West for bread and meat, gone never to return. Our foolishness, our slavishness to the one crop system is the reason. Our foolishness has put our farm land values on a $10.00 to $50.00 per acre basis and largely helped to put Illinois and Iowa lands on a $300.00 to $400.00 per acre basis.

"It is world wide experience with no exception that there can be no regular permanent prosperity to the regular food buying, grain buying cropper or farmer. Every dollar's worth of food and grain produced on home acres is a dollar saved. It means that much freedom from debt, high interest and dealers' profits.

"Food, grain and forage production on home acres sufficient for the family, the working live stock, the cows and meat animals, poultry, etc., is the first step toward permanent farm prosperity and there can be no permanent farm prosperity on anybody's farm until these necessary items, fully sufficient for home needs, are produced on home acres, not only in 1923 but every year.

"It's a good time now to start the prosperity program off right. The first thing in line is a real home garden, properly prepared, planted and kept replanted through the year. Lots of farm folks tell us that one-third to one-half their living comes out of their garden. Corn and other grain and forage crops take care of the live stock. Hogs and poultry cannot fatten or produce eggs on air and water. So it is all along the line. Make food instead of buy food for home use. It beats 'get rich quick' schemes and steadily followed insures permanent farm prosperity."

THE SUCCESSORS OF MOHAMMED

In 622, A. D., a man named Mohammed was driven out of the city of Mecca, because he preached heresy against the established gods. He took refuge in the city of Medina and there for some time gathered around him friends and converts in ever increasing numbers. Finally, afraid of his growing power, Mecca made a final attempt to crush him and after a complete failure came to an agreement with him and in 629 Mohammed reentered Mecca as its master.

Such was the start of Mohammedanism—a paltry intercity strife. Yet, there was behind it power and vitality that made it grow until it numbered hundreds of millions of followers. In 632 when Mohammed died after three years of battles, treacheries and massacres, he was master of the whole of Arabia. He was succeded by his friend and counsellor Abu Bekr, who promptly set about completing the subjugation of Arabia and preparing the way for the conquest of the world. His rule lasted only two years and then he was succeeded by Omar, the brother-in-law of Mohammed.

Under Omar's guidance the work of conquest in the name of Allah was gloriously carried on. He faced in the north the still mighty Byzantine Empire, and in the east Persia which exhausted as it was with wars should still have been capable of crushing a dozen Mohammedan invasions. This only makes the Arab triumphs the more glorious.

They did not hesitate, they did not even concentrate against one of these great enemies. Their campaigns against the Byzantines and Persians were simultaneous and in both cases they won victories against far superior forces. A steadily victorious warfare continued throughout the rule of Omar and of his successor Othman and at the death of the latter it seemed as if the two powers which alone might withstand the push of Mohammedism were doomed to utter destruction.

Already under Othman, however, the character of the Arab advance had changed and with the plots and intrigues for the title of Caliph which now occupied the principal persons at the court of Mecca, the holy war degenerated into a systematic acquisition of plunder.

To complete the conquest of Persia seemed easier and more profitable than the harder struggle against the Byzantines, and so the plans were changed. Though the impetus of the Arab conquest brought them finally into Europe and through Spain a hundred years later, the Franks had had time to grow powerful enough to repel them.

In the meantime the struggle with Byzantium practically ceased. It was not till the eleventh century, when the Arabs were conquered by the Turks and the latter were filled with the same fiery religious zeal that had animated the early Mohammedans, that the struggle burst out again. But it was then too late. The Byzanmediately the Europe that had grown tines were able to resist three centuries but even had they yielded imout of the Empire of Charlemagne could have stopped them.

Had the Mohammedan effort made to conquer Persia been directed against Byzantium it seems certain that Europe would have fallen under Mohammedan sway.—New Orleans States.

THE "AD" KILLER

The man who stops his little "ad" is but a blooming fool, bedad! Because his advertisements tell the public what he has to sell, and if his "ad" is not on deck, the people pass him up, by heck! For none of them will hesitate to trade with people up to date. To stop your "ad", we would remark, is just like winking in the dark—you may know what you mean, but gee! nobody else can ever see! So do not for a moment think that when you cut out printer's ink you're saving money on the side; 'tis only business suicide.—Seattle Post Intelligencer.

CIRCUIT COURT IN SESSION ONLY FOUR DAYS

to still further improve. We commend our officers for their good work.

There is pretty good grounds to believe that there are just a few healthy stills operating in the County by white men. They are preetty well shielded, but we feel confident that in due time, some officer will grab them when they are not expecting it. In too many cases, it appears that white men are using the negro to sell white whiskey. This has long been the case with the whiskey sellers, and it does seem that the negroes would get the proper lesson after a while.

We have had but few witnesses before us who, according to our opinion have not readily answered all questions and who have not told the truth. In this respect there is a great contrast with conditions some years in the past. Our peaple are improving and we believe that there is a better law-enforcement sentiment in the County than ever before.

It has come to our attention that many merchants keep open on the Sabbath and that they sell all kinds of goods on that day. In some cases it is alleged that a show of a restaurant is kept at the front and that anything, almost, may be got just a little way back. This is not right. It sets a bad example to the youth and is unjust to merchants who respect the law.

We desire to express especial appreciation of your Honor's charge to us and for the inspiration and the encouragement you have given us in our deliberations.

We desire to thank our very accomodating, efficient and able district attorney. He has been able, zealous and anxious to render every possible aid.

We want to thank sheriff Dogan for his promptness and his efficiency in aiding us in all our deliberations. His deputies have been equally courteous and active.

HON. W. A. WINTER FOR THE STATE SENATE

Hon. W. A. Winter of this County is in the race for the State Senate to represent Grenada and Yalobusha counties. During the last term the senator was furnished by Yalovusha County, so by custom and alternation, it comes this time to Grenada County.

It would seem to be an almost useless waste of words to attempt to discuss Mr. Winter, especially with the people of Grenada County. He was born and reared in the western portion of the County and has been going in and out before these people for these years. Those who have known Mr. Winter since he was a mere boy have known that he was honest; that his motives were good; that his aims were high and noble; that he has an analytical and discerning mind; that he has meant to be just and fair in all things and that he is commendably conscientious As he has been so is he today. As he is at home, so was he in Jackson.

He has served Grenada County for the past eight years as representative in the lower house of the State legislature. It is a matter of pride to his friends and to the County that he was regarded as one of able and strong men of that house, a body which was credited with containing some of the ablest men in the State. Mr. Winter was a member of some of the most important committees, and was among those feared by an adversary in debate, and as one welcomed as an ally. He never indulged in useless discussions. He realized that too much time was frittered away by those who were either fond of their own voice or who failed to grasp the facts and the purposes of what they were attempting to discuss.

Mr. Winter's eight years' experience in the lower house has added to his capacity and shouid qualify him to render even abler and better service as a legislator during the next four years, should he be chosen. To go from the the lower house to the Senate is regarded as a promotion and it is but natural, that, now the State Senator is to be furnished by Grenada County, Mr. Winter should aspire to this important place.

Be it said to Mr. Winter's credit that when the bill to increase the salaries of county officers was up for consideration at the session of 1920, after these officers were elected knowing what their salaries would be, he voted against the bill. The record shows that he voted nay on many of the extravagant appropriation bills before the last session, and The Sentinel is authorized to say for him, in the event of his election, that he will labor diligently to see that there is a marked reduction in appropriations all down the line, so that the burdens of the tax payers shall not only be not still further increased but diminished. Mr. Winter stands for cutting out useless offices and positions.

With his record as a citizen and his record as a legislator before the voters together with his avowed intention to stand for lessening the burdens of the taxpayers, it is not saying too much to state that Mr. Winter ought to meet the demands of the people of the district as to what is needed in a State Senator at the present time.

Mr. Winter has some well digested ideas about legislation, about what should be done and particularly about what should not be done, which he will no doubt make known to the voters some time during the campaign.

PASTORS ARE CALLED TO MEET IN GRENADA

Rev. R. A. Tucker, the presiding elder of the Grenada District, North Mississippi Conference, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, has called a conference for the pastors of the district, to meet in the Methodist Church, in Grenada, Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 31 and Feb. 1. The first session will begin Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Jan. 31.

Only the pastors will be called together at this time, as special topics and matters of peculiar reference to pastoral relations will be considered, and the conference is to assist each pastor to map his time and work so that the best possible results may be obtained, and the work of the church be so shaped as to prevent lost motion and the overlooking of any detail in the routine of service.

The general discussion will include "Pastoral Work," such as visiting, keeping touch with the numerous matters incident to the serving of a charge by a pastor; 'plans for revivals," and Financial Plans and Obligations," with reference to the benevolences, current expenses, the Centenary and educational pledges.

The "Circulation of Religious Literature" is another one of the topics to come up for consideration, as well as matters of a more personal nature. to the pastor, as "His Hours of Study," for both his own devotional life and for preparation for the pulpit. Further time will be given to "The Things That Hurt," which interfere with the larger life and ministry of the workers as much as the spread of the kingdom.

There will be taken up some special objectives and "District Goals" in which each pastor will have part in seeing that these shall be reached. In the three sessions to be held, Wednesday afternoon and evening, closing Thursday, Feb. 1, at the noon hour, much inspiration will be gained for the tasks of the year before each pastor.

The following pastoral charges and preachers serving them comprise the Grenada district and represent the churches of this denomination throughout the territory along the Illinois Central Railroad, from the south line of Holmes County, at Pickens, to the northern boundary of Marshall and Benton counties, touching the Tennessee line:

Abbeville, Rev. R. G. Long, pastor; Ashland, Rev. B. E. Crowson, pastor; Coffeville, Rev. G. A. Baker, pastor; Duck Hill, Rev. G. D. Burt, pastor; Ebenezer, Rev. R. P. Neblett, pastor; Grenada, Rev. INSTALLMENT SALE OF FURNITURE

For perhaps the first time in many a day the purchaser of furniture is enabled to buy what he needs at sale prices and pay for it on the instllment plan. The Sharp Furniture Co., in this issue of The Sentinel, is offering to its customers furniture at remarkably low prices to be sold for part cash and the balance in easy payments. The items offered are all of the highest quality and the reason for this sale is that room may be made for the new spring lines of furniture that are beginning to arrive. The home owner will be interested in knowing what this concern has to say and the ad is in this paper.

MRS. MORRISON ANNOUNCES FOR SUPT. OF EDUCATION

Moss Point, Miss., Jan. 23, 1923.

To the Voters of Grenada County, Mississippi:

Though I have been absent from home for many months, my heart has never ceased to long for home and my old friends; hence I have decided to accede to the solicitations of many friends, and announce my candidacy for the office of County Superintendent of Education of Grenada County, subject to the action of the Democratic Party at the August Primary Election.

For a woman to aspire to office is something out of the usual, you may say; but why not? Other counties are voting for women in every line of school work.

"I am to the manner born"; and my whole life has been spent among you, either in the school room, or watchful of its interest. If you should honor me with your ballot, I shall do my utmost to give to the office the best that in me is.

Earnestly soliciting your support, I am,

Very truly yours,
Mrs. S. A. Morrison.

G. P. CUNNINGHAM ASKS A REELECTION

Mr. G. P. Cunningham has a card in this issue of The Sentinel in which he asks the people of district 5 to again elect him supervisor. His card speaks for itself, but this one thing should be noted in it, and that is that he promises to see that expenditures are decreased, or do his best to that end, should he be again elected. That is one of the main things the taxpayers are interested in just now.

It is easy enough to criticise any one. It is easy to point out the mistakes of people, and the world is far freer to comment on mistakes than it is to commend the good things. Public officials share the same fate of others. But regardless of what may be said about G. P. Cunningham as a supervisor, no one can justly charge him with lack of fidelity to his County or with disloyalty to any promise or to any friend. His aim is to be kind and obliging in all things and to keep faith with his friends, and when one does that, he can be trusted to keep faith with all others.

$2000 IN GOLD TO BE DISTRIBUTED

Grenada Merchants to Give to Customers This Year This Amount. Gifts to Be Distributed Four Different Times. One Hundred Persons to Receive Benefit.

In this week's issue of The Sentinel may be found the announcement of sixteen merchants and business concerns of Grenada that during the year 1923 they will distribute to their customers two thousand dollars in gold as a means of showing their appreciation of the patronage accorded them. This money will be distributed at four different periods during the year, the first distribution being scheduled for April 7, the second for July 7, the third, October 6, and the fourth and last for Christmas Eve, December 24. Twenty-five different persons will share in each of these distributions, making a total of one hundred bersons to be benefitted altogether. Read the advertisement, note the names of those who are making this distribution possible and ask them for further details.

CARPENTER GETS INTO SUPERVISOR'S RACE

To the Voters of Beat 5:

I would like to be your next supervisor. I believe that I could discharge the duties of the place satisfactorily and in a way that would be helpful to the County while at the same time saving the taxpayers some money.

While it seems that now everybody is in favor of spending less, I want to say that if I am elected, I shall vote to discontinue the county farm demonstrator;that I shall vote to cut the salary of the County Attorney to $25 per month, which would place it back to where it was before 1920, and I believe that the County could also do without a home economics agent until we sorter catch up. I will do everything I can to save the County Money on public work and on contracts, and will stand by every good interest of District 5 and of the County. If this meets with your approval, then I would be glad to have your vote.

Yours truly,
C. A. Carpenter.

Jan. 24, 1923.

On the day of the sale all passenger trains on the I. C. will stop at Glenwild Plantation and many buyers from a distance are expected to be on hand for the auction. This sale is the first of the Southern Sale Circuit, the second being at Pine Crest Farm, Charleston, on Jan. 31 and the third at Gallatin, Tenn., on Feb. 1. Hog raisers should read the advertisement in this week's issue of The Sentinel.

MRS. MORRISON SEEKS OFFICE OF SUPT. EDUCATION

The Sentinel has been authorized by Mrs. S. A. Morrison to place her name before the voters of Grenada County as a candidate for the office of County Superintendent of public education.

Mrs. Morrison is the first lady in Grenada County to seek a political office, and it would seem that if any lady in Grenada County is qualified for official place, that Mrs. Morrison is.

Before her marriage she was a teacher. For some years she taught in the city schools of Grenada, and it may be truthfully stated that she made one of the best teachers the city schools ever had.

Mrs. Morrison is well qualified from an educational viewpoint for almost any school work. To her education has been added years of experience and observation in the school room and school work. Naturally she has a bright mind, and it has been well trained. She is remarkably well posted on general history and keeps well up to date on current events. For the past four years she has been teaching on the Mississippi coast, and is at present the second in command of the Moss Point city schools. Mrs. Morrison does not undertake anything which she does not attempt to do well, and if she is elected Superintendent of the public schools of Grenada County, it is safe to say that she will give them the same devotion and the same care that she has shown in her work as a teacher.

While in some respects it is a rather novel thing for the Mississippi public to think of a lady in connection with public office, but if a lady is suited for any official position, it would appear that she is suited for that of County Superintendent of education. A very large per cent of the public school teachers are ladies, and it is as true as preaching that a woman can more quickly get access to the confidence and the love of a little child than a man. And The Sentinel thinks it will be generally conceded that if Mrs. Morrison is elected, she will do her level best to improve and still further develop the schools of the County.

In due time Mrs. Morrison will be in the County and will take such steps as she deems proper to see as many of the voters as possible about her candidacy.

ORGANIZE FARM BUREAU

On January 20, there was organized at the court house in Grenada a Grenada County Farm Bureau. Dr. H. T. Rogers was made president and W. C. Curle, R. N. Perry, C. Haywood, J. H. Woods and H. T. Rogers were named as the board of directors.

CARPENTER FOR SUPERVISOR

The office of supervisor for district 5, this County, seems to be an inviting one. With this issue of The Sentinel, Mr. C. A. Carpeiter announces, and he makes the fourth man in the race, and the list is said to be not yet complete.

Mr. Carpenter served his district for twelve years as constable, and the fact of his repeated election is splendid proof that he met the duties and the requuirements of the office satisfactorily. His acquaintance over the district should go far towards making him a strong factor in the present contest.

Mr. Carpenter is a clever and obliging neighbor. He is a hard-working, industrious farmer and should know intimately the needs of the farming interests of his beat. He is full of energy and will go a long way to do one a kindness or a service.

He has a card in The Sentinel in which he comes out flat-footedly on several matters, which, should he be elected and these are put into effect, would cut down County expenditures several thousand dollars. Mr. Carpenter will no doubt make an active canvass and discuss in person his candidacy with the voters of his district.

STATE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT TAKES OVER ROAD

East and West Road Through County Is taken in Charge by State.

The Sentinel is unofficially advised that Mr. Kemp Mattingly, acting in conjunction with Mr. J. T. Thomas, has gotten the State Highway Department to take over the east and west highway in this County. By the "east and west highway" is meant the highway that runs westward to Holcomb and thence to the Tallahatchie County line, and eastward from Grenada to the Calhoun County line. As this paper understands, this means a big thing for Grenada County and is quite a feather in the cap of Mr. Mattingly.

In but few cases has the Highway Department taken over roads that are in the condition this one is, and the fact that it has done so, shows how important the Highway Department regards this east and West road.

With the advent of Spring, work will no doubt begin on this highway, and ere many months have passed, the people of this County will have the consolation of about thirty-five miles more of well graded roads. This last section taken over, makes altogether about 60 miles of roads in Grenada County that the State Highway Department has taken over.

RUG SALE AT REVELL'S

Commencing today. Friday, Jan. 26, and continuing all of next week through Saturday, Feb. 3, the Revell Furniture Co. will give one-fifth off on rugs of all kinds and description. This store has an excellent stock of tapestry and every bit of it is practically brand-new. The prices, which are quoted in this issue of The Sentinel, should prove attractive to the prospective purchaser.

VERNON R. PATTERSON OF NORTH CAROLINA

Is One of the Leading Banking Officials in That State.

The Sentinel feels that there are scores and scores in Grenada and in Grenada territory who are interested in whatever concerns Mr. Vernon R. Patterson, who left the employ of the Grenada Bank about six years ago and went to Asheville, N. C., on account of the health of his wife, and accepted a subordinate place with the Wachovia Bank & Trust Co.

Grenada is not only interested in Mr Patterson because of his exemplary life as a citizen and as a young business man, but she is also interested in him because he largely got his business training under Mr. J. T. Thomas, the man who helped to lay the foundations for the splendid record he is making as a banker in the North State.

Mr. Patterson was with the Grenada Bank first as a teller and later as cashier for a number of years. He was to the minute on business. He was alert and diligent, and was so gracious in his manner and so kind of nature that whether one got what he wanted at the Bank or not, Mr. Patterson made a friend of him and sent him away with the kindliest feeling for the Bank. It is therefore no surprise to those who really got to know Mr. Patterson here to learn of his rapid promotion in the banking world and to also learn that he is regarded as one of the most prominent bankers in North Carolina.

Mr. Patterson is now the cashier in the Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., and The Sentinel learns from one of his intimate friends there that his salary last year was $6500. He is also one of the directors in the Battery Park Bank at Salem, N. C.

North Carolina has a system whereby her banking institutions are divided into four divisions. Mr. Patterson is at the head of the western division. He only recently had an interesting article in the American Banker in which his photograph was used, and it is quite a high compliment indeed to one of Mr. Patterson's years to enjoy the distinction of being asked to prepare a paper for the American Banker.

At the State meeting of North Carolina bankers and insurance men last year, Mr. Patterson was one of the speakers and was highly complimented on the excellence of his address.

And there is still another and a better thing that can truthfully be said of Mr. Patterson besides that he is an expert on banking, and that is that he is a high-toned, Christian gentleman and is leading an active Christian life. He is one of the leadng forces in the Methodist church in Asheville. He is a steward in the church and a teacher of the Bible class.

He is worthy of all the honors that have come to him, and regar lless of whatever promotion or success he may attain, he will always be the same simple, kind and obliging Vernon Patterson.

The Sentinel repeats that Grenada claims credit for him, and especially is it due the discipline and training he got whle working under and with Mr. J. T. Thomas that has been one of the main sources of his being able to so quickly go to the front in a State where some of the best banking talent in all the country exists.
